Dedicated To Those

To those who march . . . fight . . . and die that we might live under a government of, by, and for the people, we humbly dedicate ourselves.

*"The endless columns march. The men whose feet
Marked out the paths of freedom walk this road.
They march with death, but there is no retreat,
For men of freedom live their code . . .
The earth still trembles under marching feet.
The earth still flows with blood and tears,
. . . The ghostly shuffling feet
Of countless men who will not rest still tread
The earth. They march, and there is no retreat,
No armistice, for these, the dead."*

—HAL BORLAND.

Fighting For Our Principles

In these, our times, when men are again wading in blood and grime and muck . . . the terrifying horrors of war and destruction they see will continue to haunt them, but shall never be expressed except in staring, deadened eyes of the living . . . in the mangled bits of "those found missing." Men are dying for their beliefs . . . our beliefs, for their principles . . . our principles, for their God . . . our God! Things worth fighting for down thru' the centuries. Men march . . . always hoping that the finale will bring permanent peace. The echoes beat like drum-rolls down the wind of bitter years . . . 1776 . . . 1861 . . . 1917 . . . 1941. We look to the future . . . we are youth full of optimism, hope, and assurance.

*"In each pulsation does our blood contend our trust;
Our meagerness can never fray our pride for them,
Or faith that what they do is of the mighty deed which shakes the world."*

—RACHEL CONRAD

Here We

It's 1943 . . . things have been happening in the world around us . . . and on our campus. The insanity outside is felt in every heart here at Lenoir Rhyne . . . school has not been as usual . . . we would not forget this year. Light . . . informal . . . deep . . . mixed . . . we have it all here. We give you a compendium of this one year in your college life.

So open your eyes . . . you will see pictures and views . . . blueprints and classics . . . past and present . . . new buildings and old . . . you'll review Lenoir Rhyne in a capsule.

ire . . . Together

You'll find freshman bags . . . Sadie Hawkins . . . open house . . . record dances . . . banquets . . . hot dogs . . . and other odd shillings. You'll be interested in the date-drought . . . the bumper crop of pre-flights . . . the week-end majors . . . and Student Government at work. You'll lift the other eyebrow at significant figures and "Headache Lamarrs" . . . at frat pins and other wartime substitutes . . . at the intelligentsia and their academic jargon . . . at intramurals instead of intercollegiates.

As for flattering "fotographs" . . . we were considerate to say the most. We have cut-rate pantomimes . . . you in action and reaction.

A master stroke . . . you'll eat it up . . . you'll rate it up . . . you'll write it up. It's you . . . it's Lenoir Rhyne!

DR. P. E. MONROE

Our President

"To be at home in all lands and ages; to count Nature a familiar acquaintance and Art a familiar friend; to gain a standard for the appreciation of other men's work and the criticism of one's own; to make friends among men and women of one's own age who are to be leaders in all walks of life; to lose one's self in generous enthusiasm and to cooperate with others for common ends; to form character under professors who are Christians—these are the returns of a college for the best four years of one's life."

—William DeWitt Hyde.

We feel that we owe much to the faculty, but we seldom have a chance to sincerely tell them about it. Especially do we want to pay them tribute today . . . they have shown themselves more than equal to the trying conditions of a small school in time of

Let's get the

We just thought it'd be helpful for posterity if we'd point out main events and find out precisely which is what around our alma mammy at the present.

Our friends "Stas" and "Pat" have taken up with the armed forces . . . Profs Willie and Roy R. left us to fend for ourselves (with the help of other faculty capables) in certain subjects . . . they all wanted to help Unk Samuel.

We notice a bumper crop of fledglings invading the L. R. dominion for a few brief weeks . . . before being replaced by more pre-flights.

The architectural youngsters are the acme of the perspective at this angle . . . the New Girls' Dorm—hot water 'n' everything . . . plus

And we must show off Miss Lenoir
Rhyne a la Rita Wallace at her crowning glory ... the background was the Iota Ep affair.

Long wind and bluff ... the champion discourses of the Dixie, Appalachian, and South Atlantic forensic tournaments.

We're including the Regional L.

packed those twenty-four hours with what you're bound to call "good

Our Student Government . . .

We have Student Government . . . a working government just instituted this year . . . fitting for a college fighting for democracy. This is the progressive student signifying the progressive college . . . student government with the individual interested in his relation to the bigger program. A program of all-out-for-honesty, standing Joe College and his coed squarely behind the honor system.

Rules and regulations are agreed to by the students . . . the emphasis is on personal responsibility . . . yes, let us remember that success depends on you and me . . . We set the rules . . . elect the officers . . . choose the Cabinet and Commissions. We, the students of Lenoir Rhyne, attend the forums . . . the mock Legislative Assembly . . . introduce and discuss the bills. We are the agitators . . . reformers . . . conservatives . . . liberals . . . radicals. We are the voice of Lenoir Rhyne Student Government.

And so . . . democracy!

Faculty-Student Commission

Arrangement of the non-academic calendar . . . Analysis of the social situation of the college . . . Passage of such social regulations not provided for in the constitution.

Student Cabinet

To uphold the Constitution, the Honor System, the Campus Regulations . . . to conduct hearings for violations against the Student Government of Lenoir Rhyne . . . weigh all evidence . . . and administer justice.

President, Edgar Cooper; Vice-President, William Hall; Secretary, Margaret Beam; Class Representatives, Bennette Carpenter and Frances Rhyne, Worth Jones and Rachel Conrad, Dot Ketner and John Gregory; Commission Representatives, Jay Shepherd, Ann Minter, and Betty Smith; Faculty Representative, F. G. Morgan.

Highland Hall Commission

A responsible group of boys . . . selected by popular vote . . . the Court of Justice for students residing in the Boys' Dormitory . . . a student regulator of dormitory life. It receives complaints from those under its jurisdiction . . . considers accusations of misconduct . . . tries all such cases coming before it . . . decides the punishment for all violations of Hall Regulations . . . administers sentence and justice.

The Commission under its President, Jay Shepherd, tries to promote congeniality and sober living among the students . . . provides for regular inspection of rooms . . . acts as an able judicial court.

Composed of seven students and one faculty representative, the members are: President, Jay Shepherd; Secretary, L. E. Smyre; Senior Representative, Leroy Trexler; Junior Representatives, Bennett Gilbert, Carl Blyth; Sophomore Representative, Roy Agner; Freshman Representative, I. P. Efird; Faculty Representative, Dean E. L. Setzler.

Women's Hall Commission

The Women's Hall Commission . . . an example of the possible advances of student government on our campus. They have worked . . . they have worked together . . . and together they have brought about a respected and approved system of dormitory self-government.

Under the unusual, capable leadership of the president, and the vigilant cooperation of the members of the commission, things have been happening . . . privileges for the senior girls were extended . . . additional quiet hour 45 minutes before light bell . . . smoking privileges granted to those with permission from home . . . 11:30 permission Friday night for all girls. They have set the pace for the entire student body.

Concerning

Encumbered with rather doubtful academic baggage, we step beyond the edge of the campus and coke shops into the world . . . but pause a moment to review . . . We had Baumgartner, Cline, Steelman, and Abee blazing the trail.

At first we showed off with snappy programs and fussy class meetings . . . we had a lot of life . . . and we have it yet.

The next year we were important on the campus . . . we gave a newsey dance that made the lucre . . . slipped a Kiddie Party on the freshmen . . . diapers and all.

Exams, vacation, and . . . we're Juniors! those that passed . . . Our Kampus Kapers clamored for recognition . . . and got it when it hit the town . . . the only holes in the fun being "Censored" signs . . . we stuffed a chicken dinner into the Seniors at Hotel Hickory preceding dancing to the jazz-a-roo of Stan Alexander's orchestra.

This year . . . a mere diploma's throw from self-support . . . realizing the many things we must put fondly behind us . . . facing a war that has depleted our ranks, but united our spirit . . . we are glad for our ideals . . . we are glad for our student life and learning . . . we are glad for Our Democracy . . . To the world we say, "Retreat, hell! We just got here!"

Bunch of enthusiasts, politicians, radicals, indifferents . . . prolifically cataclysmic (quote Hines).

Taking care of and trying hard to make dough without sugar in the traditional Junior Store . . . even put a branch into the Annex . . . still the shekels didn't flow . . . Gave the annual Halloween Masquerade to the strains of America's leading dance bands with the aid of Joe Deal and the loud speaker . . . the best-dressed "couple," according to certain faculty members, was Sailor Buddy Mauney and his charming partner, Miss Carmen Miranda "Butch" Hendricks. What a hectic evening for the poison ivy boys.

We yelled and stooged our way out in front with Kampus Kapers . . . Flora-Doras II . . . Myrt the Jerk . . . a spiff of a girl's chorus . . . the twin trippers . . . the Whatta Trio . . . that dusky blues singer in the strapless, Conrad No. 4 . . . hot number Culver . . . "V" for victory . . . held together by the M. of C. . . Pat III . . . did we bring the house down!

Climaxed the year with a Junior-Senior Feed . . . and an empty treasury.

"Oh my boy-ee" . . . Alice
Consultation in the chorus
"B-B-Bark, B-B-Bonsac!"

"Time Enough for Everything"

Dreams interrupted! . . . the caustic buzzing of the confound bell . . . "Shut out the cold air," . . . rush for hot water and "where is my towel?" . . .

Grab the pieces together—"no time for trivialities, ole boy" . . .

Transition to Epicurean indulgence under the men-in-white of the Barron's domain. "Chapel? who said 'chapel'?"

"Gotta mail m' honey's letter on the way to class . . . and you don't go late to Friedrich's, kid" . . .

Afternoon preoccupation . . . beating the pavement to Lutz's . . . "Sign the pad, gulls" . . .

Phone the bag . . . relax for persuasion, I. P.

Conviviality—a little lounge couch courting—if he's broke . . . anything can happen in a little light hand-holding.

"Move o-over, roommate." . . . But I'm having the craziest dream.

"Infantry"

We have made ourselves seen and heard . . . a freshman class camouflaging a choice collection of high school valedictorians . . . editors of school papers and annuals . . . date bait . . . small town smoothies . . . poison ivy allergies . . . zombies . . . inconsequentials . . . cockies . . . all grubbing for self-assertion and importance . . . elaborate footnotes to high school focal points and dainty diplomas.

Honored and thrilled with the realization that we are students on this particular southern campus . . . we are anticipating the years ahead . . . when our infantry days are in the past.

Prominent features . . . freshman millinery . . . big sisters . . . marching in "Freshman Tune" to the dining-hall . . . the smell of shoe polish . . . shirt-tail parades . . . "date" Sunday . . . the wedding on the lawn . . . turning up pants-legs . . . "NO Cutting—Campus"!

Freshmen

New Horizons or "it ain't hay!"

Now take these frosh . . . they arrive—such timidity—from just any ole place and are flung among cries of "Man in the hall!" "Trunk here, thanks, and what is your name?" "Is there anything I can do?" puts in some well-meaning previous tenants who are really putting themselves out—while they yet have time . . .

Still a bit confused, the brave kids try unpacking their overloads—"Oh my, no hangers!" . . . and that brown pair of shoes must still be under Mom's bed. (Just wait 'til you remember all the other stuff you thought you had here)! . . .

The formal introduction to Barron food . . . tasty, but might be more so—provided certain upperclassmen weren't so accomplished in the art of shooting hot air . . .

Some people can think of nice things—like food and freshmen—really an excellent combination sometimes . . . meaning a gym-special reception.

"How many things can you keep going 'round in your head without ditto yourself?" Someone told me you couldn't see the treasurer except behind bars—I don't get it . . . do you think I'm dumb?

"Date" Sunday wasn't so bad . . . me being embarrassed only 90 minutes out of two hours. "We don't tell you to do something, simply ask!"—Oh, yes.

Business

WANTED: Up-to-the-minute men and women for the business of tomorrow . . . must be fully equipped with anticipation, faith, hopeful efficiency, and a surplus of ideas for the filing cabinets of democracy . . . must have plans for the future perfect and courage to follow through—upholding a policy for fair dealing and clear thinking. Membership in Alpha Tau Kappa, honorary forensic fraternity, is limited to those who show unusual interest in public speaking.

There are three divisions, oratory, debate, and instruction. In each division there are three degrees: endeavor, honor, and distinction. The Greek name represents the first letter of the Greek words meaning, Truth, Skill, and Beauty.

Officers: president, Virginia Kellett; vice-pres., Russell Boggs; sec'y., Alice Kipps; faculty adviser, Dr. Albert Keiser.

Members: Rachel Conrad, Edgar Cooper, Frances Kuhn, Paul Monroe.

Lenoir Rhyme speakers, with Dr. Albert Keiser as coach, excelled again in three tournaments. The debate question . . . federal regulation of labor unions and a proposed federation to establish the Atlantic Charter . . . at Winthrop, our teams won 28 out of 36 debates . . . including wins over Wake Forest, the state universities of N. C., S. C., Alabama, and Florida . . . at the South Atlantic held in Hickory, L. R. won 12 out of 16 debates. Individual contests totaled 11 firsts.

Veteran speakers were Connolly Gamble, Marshall Mauney, Betty Grothe, and Alda Gregory . . . new, but outstanding were Rachel Conrad, Va. Kellett, P. E. Monroe, Margie Petree, and John Mangum.

Athletics — BOYS

COACH SHORE NEAL

We like to reminisce of the days of intercollegiate football. But that sport, along with the other intercollegiate sports of Lenoir Rhyne, had to be dropped for the duration. In the place of varsity competition a comprehensive schedule of intramural play was immediately set up. Of course, the thrill of the big game is gone; "hero worship" must take its place among the "out-of-styles." Their substitute? Intramurals for everyone! Really not a bad idea at all. The program has stimulated interest and enthusiasm . . . attested by the crowd that turned out on Thanksgiving for the touch football game. Coach Shore Neal, one of L. R.'s past grid stars, has undertaken the job of Director of Athletics—meaning intramurals.

The Bears' career in intercollegiate sports was climaxed as she emerged from the '42 season with the North State Conference championships in baseball and tennis . . . final honors for Pat and Stas.

And the honors continued . . . with the close of the '42 season also came the coveted Messick sportsmanship trophy . . . to the students of a sports-loving school.

Shep nets a gross gain.

Foot ballet.

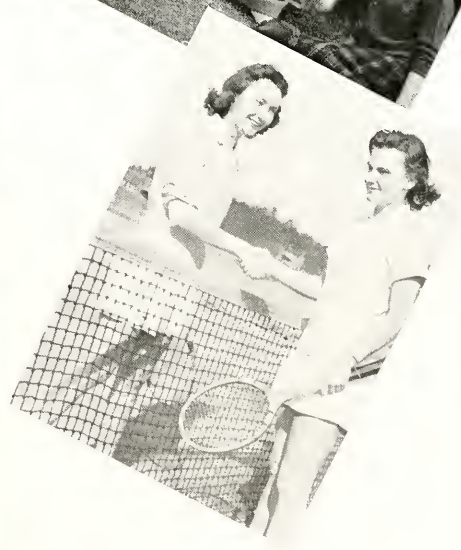

Bingo...end of intercollegiates.

Athletics — GIRLS

In order to relieve the tension created by an acute shortage of manpower, the Girls' Athletic Association reinforced its program. With Miss Nell Stallings as director, Margaret Cook as president, Ruby Moose as vice-prexy, and Lucille Wakefield handling the money and secretarying, this year was a very successful one.

The Association drew up a new constitution which provided for more officers and a revised point system. Formerly, only those "stooges" who managed to last till they were seniors were granted letters . . . this year, any girl with enough points, which were awarded according to participation in sports, was entitled to receive one of the coveted monograms.

A student head was elected for each sport to organize the various class teams. They deserve credit for their fine work in keeping the girls in shape . . . Alice Kipps, basketball; Dorothy Rhyne, tennis; Ada Guffy, soccer; Besi Silman, volleyball; Mary Alice Beaver, archery; and Frances Kuhn, softball.

Girls' Intramural

NETS AND LOVE MATCHES. When school opened last fall, it wasn't long before the L. R. co-eds had their sneakers and shorts unpacked for use . . . tennis being the order of the day. Even the shortage of good balls didn't keep the racquet wielders off the court every sunny afternoon. (And, of course, the mere fact that special permission could be obtained to play on the boys' courts had nothing whatsoever to do with the enthusiasm for said sport in Mauney and Extension.)

In October, the girls matched strokes in a singles tournament . . . final match with sisters Emma Lee and Dot Rhyne . . . the laurels decorated the little 'un.

FREE KICKS AND SHIN LICKS. Those girls who had just a little more endurance than most of us indulged in the "windy" game of soccer. The classes teamed up against each other and battled for the championship. The speedy Commercial, who just couldn't be held back, outkicked the Freshmen runner-ups to victory.

. Lenoir Rhyne

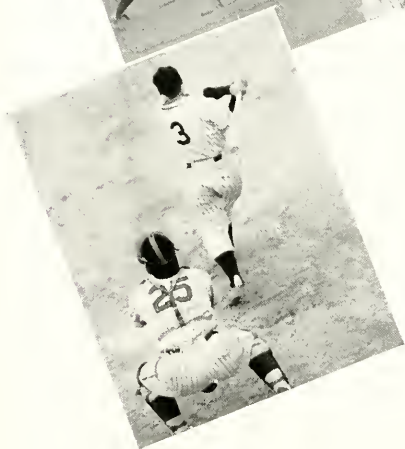

SNOWBIRDS AND FOULS. There was plenty of basketball pepitis last winter since it was the most popular sport of the year. Who wouldn't be thrilled by the shrill of a referee's whistle and the thump of a ball on the hardwood!

The girls' intramural teams tuned up in the afternoon and played at night. With such "pro" material as Barger, Mackie, Cook, Wakefield, and Yount on the several class teams, competition wasn't just another of Webster's words. The "rah" section got plenty of excitement-plus at all the tournament and Hickory High games.

BATS, ARROWS, ETC. The athletocrats found still other ways to burn up excess energy. Volleyball claimed a number of followers . . . and sprained wrists. (But it all just went to make the game more juicy!) Archery also aroused a lot of interest among the femmes with Mary Alice Beaver giving even Dan Cupid a run for his money. Softball was a sport that everybody played . . . hits and diamonds on the sidelines . . . the passing of spring.

Baseball 1942

Mentor Hodgson...captain
from the sidelines.
Contact!

As a climax to Lenoir Rhyne's intercollegiate sports, the 1942 baseball team turned in one of the most successful records in the history of the college. The Bruin team, under the leadership of Captain Dave Hodgson, won 14 of the 19 scheduled games . . . to bring home to the Alma Mater the North State Conference crown.

Among the teams to fall under the power of the Bears was Atlantic Christian College . . . 9 to 3, Catawba College . . . 5 to 1, 2 to 1, 3 to 1, Appalachian State Teachers College . . . 8 to 2, 10 to 1, Guilford College . . . 2 to 1, 15 to 3, Elon College . . . 6 to 5 in fourteen innings, Western Carolina Teachers College . . . 15 to 1, Newberry College . . . 6 to 3, Roanoke College . . . 14 to 4, Davidson College . . . 9 to 5. They lost once to Newberry . . . 10 to 6, once to Atlantic Christian College . . . 8 to 7, once to Elon . . . 11 to 0, and once to Catawba . . . 7 to 3.

Lefty Ballard led the team batting with an average of .400 . . . an unusual feat since Ballard, besides being a great hitter, was probably the most dependable pitcher on the Bruin squad . . . that boy could throw a mean ball! Next in line for hitting was F. R. Lail with a batting average of .364, closely followed by Chunk Rudisill with an average of .357.

Coach Pat Shores ended his Lenoir Rhyne career as football, baseball, and basketball coach with a team that was an organization of which he could well be proud. Perhaps, the boys were determined to reward "Pat" for the years of work and patient understanding he had shown while at L. R. Anyhow, we're bragging about the team that made the Bruin exit on baseball a crowning affair.

Tennis 1942

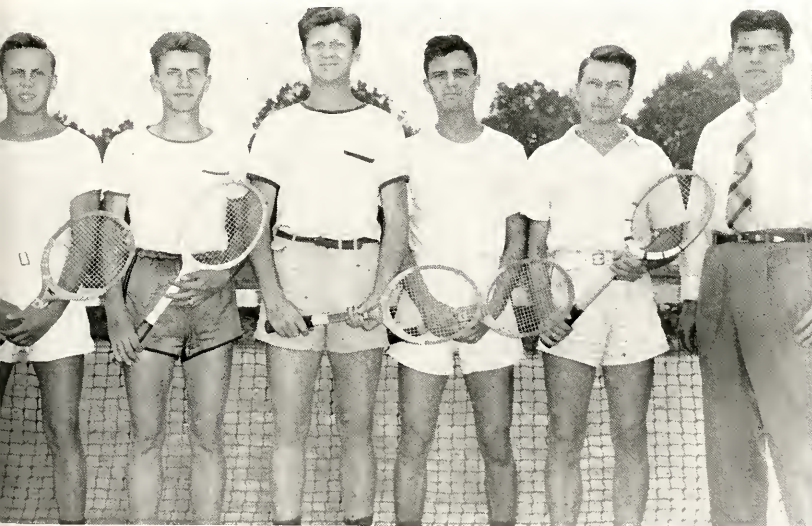

In addition to receiving the tennis title the Lenoir Rhyne netmen walked away with notable honors. In the North State Tennis Elimination Tournament Ralph Gurley, seated No. 7, played Jay Shepherd, seated No. 1, for the singles title. The doubles team, composed of Jay Shepherd and David Conrad, remained undefeated in conference play by defeating Ralph Gurley and Marshall Mauney for the doubles championship.

The Bears' team won the conference play . . . meeting and downing every conference foe at least once. Most of the matches' one-sided scores gave further evidence of the Bears' powerful tennisity.

Lenoir Rhyne defeated Atlantic Christian College 4 to 0, High Point College 7 to 0, Guilford College 7 to 0, Elon College 6 to 1, Catawba College 5 to 2, again High Point College 7 to 0, and again Catawba College 5 to 2. They lost twice to Davidson by a score of 4 to 3 and 6 to 1.

Captain David Conrad, Ralph Gurley, and Marshall Mauney, ended with this conference four years of varsity tennis. During their college years these seniors brought home many honors to Lenoir Rhyne. Also ending his career at Lenoir Rhyne was Coach Clarence P. Stasavich, assistant football coach and head tennis coach since 1939.

During the time Coach Stasavich was here he proved himself not only an able football and tennis coach, but also an inspiration to the many athletes under his tutorship.

That's gonna be a hard ball!

"Drawback" Monroe.

The North State Champs

Football .

Intercollegiate sports being a thing of the past at Lenoir Rhyne, an extensive program of intramural sports has pushed to the fore. Intramural competition is rather old stuff on the campus, but the present program is by far the broadest in scope of any preceding.

Ex-star athletes . . . plus new freshman material . . . plus anybody else who wanted to play, added up to the class touch football squads. Choosing captains for the teams was left to the intramural council at the start of the season. The men selected were among our experienced sportsmen . . . capable of leading a team . . . Jay Shepherd, seniors; Carl Blythe, juniors; Chunk Rudisill, sophomores; and Bill Miller, freshmen.

After the first game of the season—a ripper in which the seniors really outclassed the junior entry, it became evident that intramurals would plug up the hole in the athletic life of the college. At the close of the first round it looked as if there would be a battle for top honors between the sophomores and seniors with another struggle between the juniors and frosh for the dubious honor of cellar-dweller. But things didn't turn out that way at all. How could they—when Shep kept getting fatter and fatter and when Blythe finally “learned” his team what ought to be done with a pig-skin?

. amateur

The sophomores, led by Rudisill and bolstered by a large number of ex-varsity men, came through the schedule undefeated and untied . . . with just one touchdown scored against them. The juniors nosed out the heavily-favored senior team for second place honors. The seniors had not been defeated in intramural competition for two years. The freshmen proved they're still being made of stern stuff.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL or, "Things Ain't What They Wuz." Under the latest setup of "play who and what you can," the boys basketball turned into a scramble to see who could get to the shin-guards first . . . Games were played with anybody from the local high school Red Tornadoes to the all star Naval C.P.T. bone crusher team . . . ending in anything short of "who slugged me in the eye" or "who swiped my shirt." All of which leaves Jughead Sigmon in much of a daze, standing around with his mouth open.

Coach Neal, with the help of former Bear "hoop ringers" strived vainly to keep the sophomores from trying to remove all of the freshmen's teeth. As the season progressed several of the contestants found that the ball was supposed to go through the hoop . . . and so we knew that intramural basketball had been a success.

THE OLD ARMY GAME . . . By special request of the United States Government the future Generals and Admirals of the campus were required to undergo at least two hours a week of "toughening up." Exercises were given by Coach Neal, and many a flabby muscle began to tighten up and squeak. Not satisfied with this, the classes were put to work building an obstacle course according to the specifications of the army . . . Then, they were given the special privilege of being the first to go over it. Everybody made it but two hundred and forty-seven.

Just like to say , all the "isms" would soon be "wasms" if the cooperation that blitzed this book through were applied internationally.
